

El Paso Inc.

Eisen's jewelry shines at the Emmys

Handcrafted jewelry created by Susan Eisen of Susan Eisen Fine Jewelry in El Paso sparkled on the red carpet during the Emmy Awards Monday night in Los Angeles.

Lauren Parsekian, whose husband Aaron Paul won the Supporting Actor Emmy for "Breaking Bad," wore stylish earrings from Eisen's Diamond Vines collection. Made with 2.25 carats of diamonds, the earrings priced at $17,800.

Photo by Danny Moloshok/Invision for the Television Academy/AP Images

Kate Linder

Actress Kate Linder wore diamond and cultured pearl earrings, and a gold and diamond ring.

Actress Kate Linder, who appears in "The Young and the Restless," wore $38,000 dangle earrings with 3.85 carats of diamonds and cultured pearls, as well as an abstract gold and diamond ring created from rock castings of the Franklin Mountain. The ring is priced at $15,800.

Shaun Robinson, the host of "Access Hollywood" wore diamond and pearl chandelier earrings from the Diamond Vines collection. With 5 carats of diamonds, they are priced at $73,000.

Eisen said celebrities and their stylists saw her custom-made pieces at the StyleLab Suite during Emmy Awards week. The pieces they borrowed were worn Monday night and then returned. Eisen is the first El Paso jeweler to be featured on the red carpet at the Emmys. For information, visit susaneisen.com.

Read Full Article Here:

http://www.elpasoinc.com/lifestyle/local_features/article_426b5466-3054-11e4-914a-0017a43b2370.html